The severe storm that hit Yangon and Ayeyawady Divisions caused heavy loss of life and destruction to some regions of the divisions with houses and structures destroyed and trees, lamp-posts and billboards knocked down.

Traffic, power supply and communications were disrupted by the fallen trees and lamp-posts, thereby causing delays to commodity flow.

Better transport is indispensable for commodity flow, trade and commerce as well as for improvement of socio-economic life of the people. Therefore, the Tatmadaw and the people cleared the debris caused by uprooted trees in concert with the use of heavy machinery in order to bring about better transport. At present, with better transport, one can travel from one place to another, thereby contributing to swift commodity flow and trade and commerce.

Domestic and overseas airlines, inland water transport and train services which were temporarily disrupted returned to normal a few days after the severe storm.

Traffic in downtown Yangon has returned to normal with all roads and streets serviceable. As relentless efforts were made for restoring power supply, most of townships in the affected regions are now being supplied with electricity.

In the meantime, hospitals in the affected regions have been facilitated with doctors, nurses and medicines so that they can fully provide health care services to storm victims.

Disasters can occur any time. The State, the Tatmadaw and the people are to make concerted efforts in times of emergency. Only then, will they overcome any difficulty caused by the catastrophe.

Abbas says to quit if no peace deal reached in 2008

JERUSALEM, 18 May— Palestinian President Mahmoud Abbas on Sunday said he would resign if he fails to reach a peace agreement with Israel by 2009, according to Israeli lawmaker Yossi Beilin’s office.

Abbas made the remarks during a meeting with Beilin, a strong proponent for a peace agreement with the Palestinians, on the sidelines of the World Economic Forum in the Egyptian Red Sea resort of Sharm el-Sheikh, where US President George W. Bush met with several Middle East leaders in efforts to push forward the sluggish peace process.

“I didn’t take the presidency upon myself in order to serve the role of president but rather to pursue a mission, and I have no point in continuing in this capacity if it becomes apparent that we can’t reach peace,” Abbas said, which was quoted by a statement released by Beilin’s office.

Abbas added that Israel will not have a better negotiation partner than the current leadership of the Palestinian National Authority, which “believes the Palestinian interest is a historic reconciliation with Israel and a Palestinian state alongside it.”

Since Abbas and Israeli Prime Minister Ehud Olmert resumed the long-stalled peace talks and pledged to forge a deal within 2008 at a US-hosted conference in Annapolis, Maryland, the Palestinians have complained that the peace talks are not making progress.

Colombia rejects Venezuela border incursion charge

BOGOTA, 19 May— Colombian authorities on Sunday rejected charges from Venezuela that their troops had crossed the frontier in the latest incident to test fraying relations between the Andean neighbors.

Venezuela over the weekend accused 60 Colombian soldiers of entering its territory in what Caracas said was a provocation that aimed to destabilize the region.

The tension exacerbates sharp divisions in the Andes, where Colombian President Alvaro Uribe is a close Washington ally and Venezuela’s Hugo Chavez a purveyor of anti-US sentiment.

“There has been no incursion,” Colombian Defense Minister Juan Manuel Santos told local radio, saying a river in the area would have prevented troops crossing. “It would have been practically impossible for it to happen as they say.”

AU optimistic on Chad-Sudan relations after talks

KHARTOUM, 19 May— The new head of the African Union said on Sunday he was optimistic tensions between Chad and Sudan would ease, after holding talks in both countries.

Sudan cut diplomatic relations with Chad last week, blaming it for an attack on Kharotum which killed more than 200 people. Chad denies responsibility and has accused Sudan of master-minding attacks on N’Djamena in the past.

“We are confident … that we are going to engage in a process of de-escalation concerning Chadian-Sudanese relations,” AU chief Jean Ping told reporters in Kharotum after two hours of talks with President Omar Hassan al-Bashir. Ping arrived on his first mission to Sudan from the Chadian capital at the weekend after talks with President Idriss Deby.

“I got information coming from the two capitals which made me optimistic,” he said, declining to give any further details. Ping said the African Union should investigate accusations by Sudan and Chad of support for rebels in their respective countries.—INTERNET

Egypt deploys signal corps force in Darfur

CAIRO, 18 May— Egypt has deployed its signal corps force in the western Sudanese region of Darfur as part of the AU-UN Hybrid Force there, the Egyptian MENA news agency reported on Sunday.

The corps comprising 92 technicians took position in Darfur, which will be followed by another 83-strong force of Signals battalion to join the Egyptian contingent in the war-torn region, MENA quoted a statement by the UN Information Center in Cairo as saying.

Deteriorating security, harsh conditions and other obstacles in Darfur have considerably slowed the deployment of the UN-African Union Hybrid Operation in Darfur (UNAMID) in the Sudanese region, according to UN peacekeeping chief Jean-Marie Guermoune.

When fully operational, UNAMID, authorized by the UN Security Council in July, 2007, will become the largest peacekeeping force in the world, with almost 26,000 troops and police officers and nearly 5,000 civilian staff.—INTERNET

The world has seen natural disasters since its early stage. Every country has ever faced natural disasters such as earthquake, storm, floods, volcanic eruption and tsunami due to natural disaster, the loss of human lives and property is based on the strength of the disaster. So, natural disasters are unavoidable.

Our country suffered the cyclone ‘Nargis’ recently. In fact, a storm has no border. According to the climate changes, a storm moves along its route. Myanmar people have never faced such a severe storm in their life, so they did not think that the storm would be very destructive. Despite the public notices about the upcoming natural disaster on radio and TV as well as in the newspapers, the people did not take it seriously. They did not have firsthand experiences about severe storms, so they did not care about the possible natural disaster.

Although the storm has abated, the victims have not been in a position yet to lead a comfortable life because the disaster was followed by monsoon. Therefore, they have to continue to show resilience now.

The storm and its aftershocks are receiving media coverage for public information. Since 1 May, the Prime Minister has been supervising the relief and rehabilitation tasks in the storm-hit areas, while ministers and deputy ministers are making field trips to the villages, and the Vice-Admiral, the Adjutant-General, military commanders and commandants are rendering assistance to the victims. In addition, servicemen, members of the Myanmar Police Force, Red Cross Society, Union Solidarity and Development Association and duty-conscious people are contributing voluntary services with heart and soul.

My eyes were filled with tears when I watched on TV that the Prime Minister comforted the victims, gave away snacks and fed meals to the children in the relief camps. The Prime Minister has frequented the storm-affected areas. So, it is fair to say that all the members of the National Disaster Preparedness Central Committee are now shouldering rehabilitation tasks with might and main. The proof of that relief and rehabilitation works are being carried out in an effective way. Ministers, deputy ministers, departmental officials, entrepreneurs, well-wishers, social organizations and artistes are contributing cash donations and voluntary services wholeheartedly.

Therefore, it can be deduced from those profound evidences that Myanmar people have no experiences about a severe cyclone, but they are capable of preparing themselves for the worst. And they are strongly equipped with family spirit and Union Spirit and they remain united in times of emergency.

While braving the natural disasters, the nation invited humanitarian relief from the international community. Now, international relief supplies are continuously flowing into the nation. Ships with relief aid on board from the Republic of India arrived at the nation. Many aircraft from various international airlines are landing on Yangon International Airport every day. So far, the aircraft have run 165 flights. The government, the people and the Tatmadaw are capable of dealing with the disaster, as evidenced by the scenes that relief supplies donated by internal and international donors are being unloaded from the airplanes, and they are being distributed by car, by helicopter, by sea and by military warship. The aid was being provided to the victims, the victims are taking shelters in the tents. health care is being given to the victims, and servicemen and duty-conscious people are carrying relief supplies in the rain.

The loss of human lives and property is heavy. Thousands of people were killed and missing. The nation lost a large number of cattle, crops, houses and infrastructures. In the private sector, agriculture, fishery, salt and industrial enterprises were ravaged, while a huge number of State-owned buildings in the electric power, communication and transport sectors and social infrastructures were destroyed severely. The area of the affected regions is very large, and some of them rely much on waterways for transport. About 2000 square miles of land came under the tidal waves triggered by the storm. It is a formidable task to make these areas return to normal.

However, now many plans in this regard have been translated into reality. In compliance with the instruction of the Prime Minister “Every survivor shall continue to survive”, emergency tasks were launched as soon as possible. Now, hundreds of thousands of storm victims have been evacuated to the relief camps. In order to achieve such great success, members of the Tatmadaw (Army) were rescuing the victims in the lands, while vessels of the Tatmadaw (Navy) were searching and rescuing victims in the rivers and creeks in the delta. Moreover, helicopters of the Tatmadaw (Air) took part in the rescue tasks. While carrying out rescue works along the coast of the nation, the Navy vessels at the risk of lives managed to rescue 18 foreigners from Panama-registered cargo ship MV Comsic Leader that was stranded in the southern part of Thameehla Island.

Emergency tasks are divided into three phases—rescue phase, relief phase, and rehabilitation and resettlement phase. The government allocated five billion kyats as initial funds on these phases. So far, more than 50 billion kyats have been spent. Internal and international donors have donated a large number of supplies. Up to 18 May, the supplies totaled cash donations and supplies worth 7.908 billion kyats by internal donors, and 1.62 million US dollars and 2671.10 tons of relief items by international community. They will continue to donate relief aid to the nation. Myanmar is very grateful to the donors for their generous donations.

The State is trying its best to send all relief supplies to the storm victims as soon as possible. It can also be found that the donation accepting and supervisory committee is accepting cash and kind donated at home and abroad and distributing them to the storm-hit regions without delay. There are tons and tons of relief items. So, navy ships, Tatmadaw aircraft, Tatmadaw vehicles, private vehicles and ships owned by Inland Water Transport totaling hundreds have to be carrying relief supplies again and again.

It is known to all that the area of the delta region is very vast and it has limited transportation. But the region has now smooth transport. It is because in the time of the Tatmadaw government, more bridges were built across rivers and creeks and a network of roads emerged. It will be difficult for such a great amount of relief items to reach every storm-hit region immediately. Despite the difficulty, the State is taking systematic measures for relief aid distribution by opening 12 forward relief camps, six middle relief camps and three rear relief camps in order not to cause delay. To take systematic measures and for emergency, CDMA and satellite phones have been distributed.

In reality, it is very lucky for us to be born and bred in a country blessed with worldly values. While the State is contributing a lot to the sector of relief aid distribution, public well-wishers, monks and companies are also contributing their donations. They tried their utmost to make contributions wherever necessary. It is the undeniable fact that those participating in relief work and reconstruction tasks including the Prime Minister and helpful young people are making great effort to give assistance to all the storm-ravaged regions. It is a great honour for Myanmar that the tremendous national task has been implemented successfully.

Health care is of utmost importance for the storm victims. It is necessary to cure the people with injuries and illness due to the storm as well as prevent infectious diseases following the natural disaster. That is why the deputy health ministers themselves are meeting the victims and many medical teams led by specialists are in the storm-hit regions to give health care services. We have now been able to breathe a sigh of relief although we were worried about the victims’ health in the aftermath of the storm.

UN agencies such as WHO, WFP, ICRC, and INGOs such as World Vision, Save the Children Myanmar and Forciv Myanmar actively participated in relief and rescue work. Accompanied by relief and rescue teams concerned, those organizations rendered humanitarian aid to the victims with heart and soul. It is also hoped that they will continue their cooperation and aid in the successful completion of the work.

Thanks to the cooperation and assistance of the State, the Tatmadaw, various departments, public donors and INGOs, relief and rescue works have been nearly completed. Besides, as the third step, reconstruction and resettlement works have been started in some regions. Some towns and villages started repairing their hospitals, schools, departments and houses. Like a phoenix, we have to make our own efforts to rise from the ashes. We have to shape our own future. Again, I am very glad to hear that private construction companies have been assigned to implement reconstruction tasks in the storm-ravaged regions.

The delta region, known as the granary of Myanmar, suffered great destruction of its farmlands. Some embankments also broke. In spite of any difficulties, agricultural work has to be carried out soon as monsoon is setting in. The ministry concerned has taken steps to repair the damaged dams and embankments. Plans are under way to distribute paddy strains resistant to sea water, fertilizers, pesticides and diesel to the farmlands to which sea water flowed. As hundreds of thousands of cattle were lost, arrangements are being made to import cattle. Meanwhile, plans are under way to shift to manageable scale mechanized farming by using power tillers.

All necessary measures are also being taken to provide drinking water and open schools in time in the storm-battered regions. Measures were taken in Yangon as well as in other towns regardless of region. In Yangon, mobile phone lines have resumed their operation and households have enjoyed electricity day by day. Most of the roads and streets have been cleared and they have now returned to normal.

Overall, we had to suffer the cyclone Nargis and its aftershocks as we have never experienced such a storm before. No country, government and people can bear such a severe storm.

The severer the storm, the more damage and causalities. We did have great damage and loss. But now the storm has left and we overcome it. Because we worked together and exerted efforts with the strength of the State, the Tatmadaw, the people and donor countries. Now I have breathed a sigh of relief for the victims. All in all, we have undertaken a historic national task successfully.

On arrival at Saya Zawgi Yapyi Hall, Senior General Than Shwe heard a report presented by Minister Maj-Gen Soe Naing on loss and damages in storm-hit Pyapon and Kyaukklat Townships, opening of relief camps, distribution of relief items, supply of drinking water, medical treatment given by Directorate of Medical Services, local health staff and doctors from India, prevention of waterborne and infectious diseases and reconstruction work being carried out by Dagon International Co, Yuzana Co and Pyae Phyo Kyaw Co.

The commander gave a supplementary report. After hearing the reports, Senior General Than Shwe gave guidance, saying that the nation-building endeavours cannot be carried out by the government alone. The policy of the State is that only when the State, the Tatmadaw and the people make concerted effort will the nation-building endeavours meet with success.

In line with the policy, the Tatmadaw has been striving together with the people under the leadership of the State in building of the nation since its assumption of the State responsibilities, he noted.

The nation has been able to overcome any crisis and difficulty through the concerted efforts of the State, the Tatmadaw and the people, he said.

The country was hit hard by the severe storm but relief and rehabilitation works are being carried out through the concerted efforts.

In future also, the nation-building endeavours will be carried out in line with the policy of the State and it is sure that the nation will meet with success in the long-run.

In addition to relief and reconstruction work, continued efforts will be made for disaster preparedness, he disclosed.

In that regard, causeways linking villages and embankments need to be built in coastal regions and regions close to the sea. And hospitals and dispensaries in storm-hit regions are to be upgraded while striving for upgrading of 200-bed hospitals and 100-bed hospitals in major cities and opening of more rural health care centres in strategic regions.

Next, Senior General Than Shwe and party went to Relief Camp No 1 where they inspected the accommodation of the victims. He then comforted and encouraged the victims. The Senior General looked into supply of drinking water.

Senior General Than Shwe and party inspected reconstruction of Pyapon People’s Hospital by car. Next they proceeded to Dedaye, Pyapon District, in the afternoon and inspected reconstruction tasks there.

On arrival at the control office in Bogyoke Street, Senior General Than Shwe heard a report by Energy Minister Brig-Gen Lun Thi on damage to Dedaye, rescue work, distribution of relief supplies and reconstruction and resettlement tasks being carried out by Eden Group Co. Commander Brig-Gen Kyaw Swe reported on matters related to surplus rice and running of rice mills and Minister for Agriculture and Irrigation Maj-Gen Hlay Oo on reclamation of land and repair of dams and reservoirs.

Senior General Than Shwe gave necessary instructions. Next, he and party went to the relief camp near Dedaye Bridge where they inspected accommodation and comforted the victims. Later, the Senior General enquired about the providing of health care by medical staff and arrived back in Yangon in the afternoon. — MNA

Obama plans Iowa trip with victory in sight

ROSEBURG, (Oregon), 18 May—Senator Barack Obama, hoping that a pair of contests in Oregon and Kentucky on Tuesday will allow him to essentially clinch the Democratic nomination, will make a symbolic return to Iowa, the state that launched his underdog bid for the White House.

Polls suggest Obama will win Oregon comfortably while his rival, Senator Hillary Clinton, is expected to prevail in Kentucky by a wide margin. But the Obama campaign expects that when the results from the two contests are added to his existing tally, he will have racked up more than half of the pledged delegates awarded in the state-by-state contests, making him the likely winner in his battle with Clinton to become his party’s nominee to face presumptive Republican nominee John McCain in November.

British Union strike threats add to Brown’s woes

LONDON, 18 May — British Prime Minister Gordon Brown faced a summer of industrial unrest on Friday when union leaders warned that a million public sector workers were poised to strike over pay.

The union warnings came only days after Brown ended a revolt in his Labour Party by offering emergency tax cuts.

Brown’s popularity has crumbled in the polls less than a year after he took over from Tony Blair, raising doubts over whether he can stay on as prime minister. Labour was pushed into third place in local elections this month and risks losing a safe parliamentary seat next Thursday in a contest triggered by the death of the sitting member.

After weeks of party dissent over the abolition of a 10 per cent tax band that had benefited low-earners, Brown’s government announced it would borrow an extra 2.7 billion pounds (5.3 billion US dollars) at a time when the public finances are tight in order to fund tax cuts for 22 million people.

Iran blames US for attack on diplomats in Baghdad

TEHREN, 18 May — Iran has denounced “terror attack” on its embassy staff in Baghdad and has said the United States is responsible for violating diplomatic immunity in Iraq, the official IRNA news agency reported on Saturday.

Foreign Minister Manouchehr Mottaki made the remarks, while strongly condemning the terror attack, said IRNA.

“Such incidents are related to the presence of those who are responsible for the insecurity in Iraq and their presence provides the excuse for them,” Mottaki was quoted as saying.

The top Iranian diplomat also asked Iran’s Ambassador to Baghdad Hassan Kazemi Qomi to work with Iraqi officials to transfer the wounded embassy staff to Iran for medical treatment, according to IRNA.

An Iraqi Interior Ministry source said on Friday that five Iranian embassy staff were wounded when their vehicles came under fire on Thursday night in northern Baghdad.

“Unknown gunmen opened small-arms fire on two sport utility vehicles (SUV) of the Iranian embassy at about 9:30 pm (1930 GMT) near Buratha Shite mosque in Ateifiyah neighbourhood,” the source told Xinhua on condition of anonymity.

India to resume Pakistan talks, meet new leaders

ISLAMABAD, 18 May — India’s Foreign Minister travels to Pakistan this week for his first meeting with leaders of a new civilian government and to review a peace process that has been in the doldrums for more than a year.

Indian External Affairs Minister Pranab Mukherjee will meet his Pakistani counterpart, Shah Mehmood Qureshi, on Wednesday, a day after their top civil servants held talks.

The nuclear-armed rivals launched peace efforts in 2004 after nearly going to war a fourth time after Islamist militant attacks in India linked to a nearly 20-year revolt.

Lebanese Army says internal fighting serves Israel

BEIRUT, 18 May — Lebanese Army Commander General Michel Suleiman considered that Lebanon’s internal fighting would only serve Israel, local Elnashra website reported Saturday.

Suleiman, during an inspection tour of Army positions and outposts in southern Lebanon, said “embroidment of the resistance in the infighting is tantamount to an explicit service to the Israeli enemy,” while the later prepares an new aggression on Lebanon.

Internal fighting also “prepares the environment for terrorism,” Suleiman added.

He affirmed that the reason the Lebanese Army did not use “artilleries” was to preserve civil peace during the last week’s clashes, “in order to stop blood shed, and prevent more internal divisions.”

The Army commander said that all parties should give up “provoking and escalating” language which have been use for the past years and have resulted in the latest internal clashes.

UK banks may swap up to $175b mortgage assets

London, 18 May—Britain’s banks are set to swap between 80 billion and 90 billion pounds (175 billion US dollars) of mortgage-backed assets for Treasury bills, nearly twice the base level set by the Bank of England last month, the Financial Times reported on Friday.

The British Bankers’ Association said details of which banks were accessing the facility were confidential, but a spokesman said “it wouldn’t be surprising” if banks were accessing more funds as there were still strains in the market.

“All of the banks are planning to use this facility,” an industry source said. “The reports in the market at the time were that it would be 50 billion to 100 billion, so this doesn’t feel unexpected.”

Citing debt market sources, the FT said banks had approached rating agencies about how to structure deals that will receive the necessary triple-A rating.

French FM welcomes agreement to end Lebanese crisis

Paris, 18 May—French Foreign Minister Bernard Kouchner has welcomed the signing of an agreement, concluded under the auspices of the Arab League, by the Lebanese Government and the Hamas-led opposition, to end a crisis that had threatened the control of the Lebanese Army, whose work “was crucial in creating the necessary conditions to end the crisis”, said Kouchner.

Juice may beat fruit for preventing heart disease

NEW YORK, 18 May — Grapes, apples and their juices can prevent the development of atherosclerosis in hamsters eating a high-fat, high-cholesterol diet, French researchers have found.

Fruit juices had a more powerful anti-atherosclerotic effect than the fruit itself, Dr Kelly Decorde of the Universite Montpellier and colleagues found, showing for the first time that processing fruit can have a “major impact” on its health benefits.

Most of the fruit people eat is processed, the researchers say, but information on the nutritional composition of a fruit is typically limited to its raw form.

To investigate how juicing might affect the content of phenolic compounds, which are powerful antioxidants found in fruits, the researchers fed hamsters grapes, grape juice, apples, apple juice or water, along with a diet designed to promote atherosclerosis — the buildup of fatty plaque deposits in the arteries that can lead to heart attacks or strokes.

A control group of animals ate normal chow.

The amount of fruit the hamsters consumed was equivalent to three apples or three bunches of grapes daily for a human. Hamsters given juice drank the equivalent of four glasses daily for a person weighing 70 kilos (154 pounds).

Listening to music found to lower blood pressure

NEW YORK, 18 May — Listening to half an hour of music each day may significantly lower your blood pressure, according to research reported at the American Society of Hypertension meeting in New Orleans this week.

In the study, researchers found that people with mild hypertension (high blood pressure) who listened to classical, Celtic or Indian (raga) music for just 30 minutes a day for one month had significant reductions in their blood pressure.

United States, Asia and Latin America have been associated with controlling patient-reported pain or anxiety and acutely reducing blood pressure,” study investigator Dr Pietro A Modesti, of the University of Florence in Italy, noted in a written statement from the meeting. “But for the first time, today’s results clearly illustrate the impact daily music listening has on ambulatory blood pressure.”

Ambulatory blood pressure refers to readings taken repeatedly over the course of a day.

A total of 48 adults ages 45 to 70 who were taking medication to control mild hypertension took part in the study. Of these, 28 listened to 30 minutes of “rhythmically homogenous” classical, Celtic or raga music daily while practicing slow, controlled breathing exercises. The remaining 20 participants, serving as the control group, made no changes to their daily routine.

Online maps reveal noise levels across England

LONDON, 18 May — Maps showing noise levels in towns across England were published on Friday in an attempt to reduce the disruption caused by factories, planes, trains and cars, the government said.

Residents in 23 towns and cities will be able to check how noisy their area is by visiting a new government website, www.defra.gov.uk/noise-mapping.

The site collapsed on Friday morning due to “unprecedented demand”. A message said engineers were working on the problem.

Ministers say the maps represent the most thorough attempt yet to graph the scale of a problem that some studies have linked to serious illness and educational difficulties.

The maps, drawn up to meet a European Union directive, will be used to help cut noise in the worst-affected areas.

"They will provide a springboard to go forward and tackle unnecessary and unreasonable noise pollution," said Environment Minister Jonathan Shaw.

Russian cargo spaceship docks with “ISS”

MOSCOW, 18 May — A Russian cargo spaceship has docked with the International Space Station (ISS), the Mission Control near Moscow said on Saturday. The Progress M-14 spaceship docked with the station at 01:39 Moscow Time on Saturday (2139 GMT), the Mission Control said.

The cargo spaceship delivered some 2.5 tons of food, water, fuel, equipment and gifts from the crews’ families to Russian cosmonauts Sergei Volkov and Oleg Kononenko and NASA astronaut Garrett E Reisman.

The spaceship, which blasted off from central Asia’s Baikonur space centre in Kazakhstan Thursday, is an unmanned version of the Soyuz spacecraft. It is expected to be filled with waste and burst during its way back to Earth after undocking.

The Progress is one of two cargo types of spacecraft supplying the ISS.

Spanish police arrest five suspected hackers

MADRID, 18 May — Five suspected hackers who were accused of attacking government websites in the United States, Asia and Latin America have been arrested. Spanish police said Saturday. They were arrested this week in the Spanish cities of Barcelona, Burgos, Malaga and Valencia.

Among the arrested are two 16-year-old youths who belong to “one of the most active groups of hackers on the Internet,” which have disabled 21,000 web pages in two years, the police said in a statement.

The members of the group have never met, but they have allegedly organized and coordinated attacks over the Internet, working in particular with hackers in Latin America, according to the police.

Australia to bid for club World Cup

MELBOURNE, 18 May — Australia will bid to host the Club World Cup in 2009 and 2010, Football Federation Australia (FFA) said on Sunday.

The tournament involves the champion clubs from world governing body FIFA’s six confederations and another from the host country.

Japan, which is bidding again, has hosted the last three tournaments and will host it later this year. The United Arab Emirates are also bidding, the FFA said in a statement.

“We believe Australia has very strong credentials,” FFA chief executive Ben Buckley said in the statement.

“Australia has quality facilities, good systems and infrastructure and the capacity to develop more, stable governance and football fans and all-round sports fans who are knowledgeable and passionate.”

Buckley said the FFA was keen on hosting major soccer events. — MNA/Reuters

Giovani hat-trick gives Rijkaard a winning send off

MADRID, 18 May — A hat-trick from Giovani dos Santos helped Barcelona to a 5-3 victory away to relegated Real Murcia on Saturday which gave coach Frank Rijkaard a winning send off in his last league game in charge.

Murcia took an early lead through Juan Ochoa, but three from Giovani and one each from Samuel Eto’o and Thierry Henry made sure of third place in the Primera Liga for Barca.

Near the end, Ivan Alonso pulled one back for Murcia from the penalty spot and Abel Gomez curled in a free kick.

Barca finish the season with 67 points from 38 games, three ahead of fourth-placed Atletico Madrid who visit Valenciabase on Sunday. Barca have the superior head-to-head record over Atletico.

Murcia striker Alonso headed against the crossbar early on and had another pushed round the post soon after as the visitors struggled under the high ball. — MNA/Reuters

Ibrahimovic stars as Inter win third straight Italian title

ROMA, 19 May — Inter Milan won their third straight Italian Serie A title with a 2-0 victory at Parma on Sunday.

Sweden forward Zlatan Ibrahimovic scored both goals after coming off the bench to secure the nerazzurri’s 16th Scudetto crown.

AS Roma’s hopes of snatching the title on the last day of the season faltered as they were held to a 1-1 draw at Catania, but Ibrahimovic’s double rendered their result meaningless anyway.

“That was tough, particularly the last month and a half,” Inter midfielder Dejan Stankovic told Sky TV. “Everyone can say what they want but we’re the best. Congratulations to Roma who play great football and who believed until the end but Inter have been top for the last two years.”

“It’s more exciting to win it on the final day, with this weather (heavy rain) and with Parma who were fighting for their lives.”

Fiorentina claimed the last Champions League qualifying position after finishing fourth following their 1-0 win at Torino.

Laudrup to leave Getafe at end of season

MADRID, 18 May — Getafe coach Michael Laudrup announced on Friday he will leave the Primera Liga side at the end of the season.

The former Denmark international steered Getafe to the UEFA Cup quarter-finals in their debut campaign in Europe, a second successive final of the King’s Cup and ensured they will remain in the Primera Liga for a fifth season in a row.

“My time at the club has come to an end,” Laudrup told a news conference.

“I’m making this announcement so that the club can have a chance to look for a replacement and in order to express my thanks to them for having given me this opportunity. This club is a very recent arrival to the first division, but despite that people said to me when I took over here that I had gone to a club which had great expectations.” — MNA/Reuters
